
How Spark Was Born
A Little Spark Story

In a quiet old library, everyone was fast asleep.
Only the moon peeked in through the window.

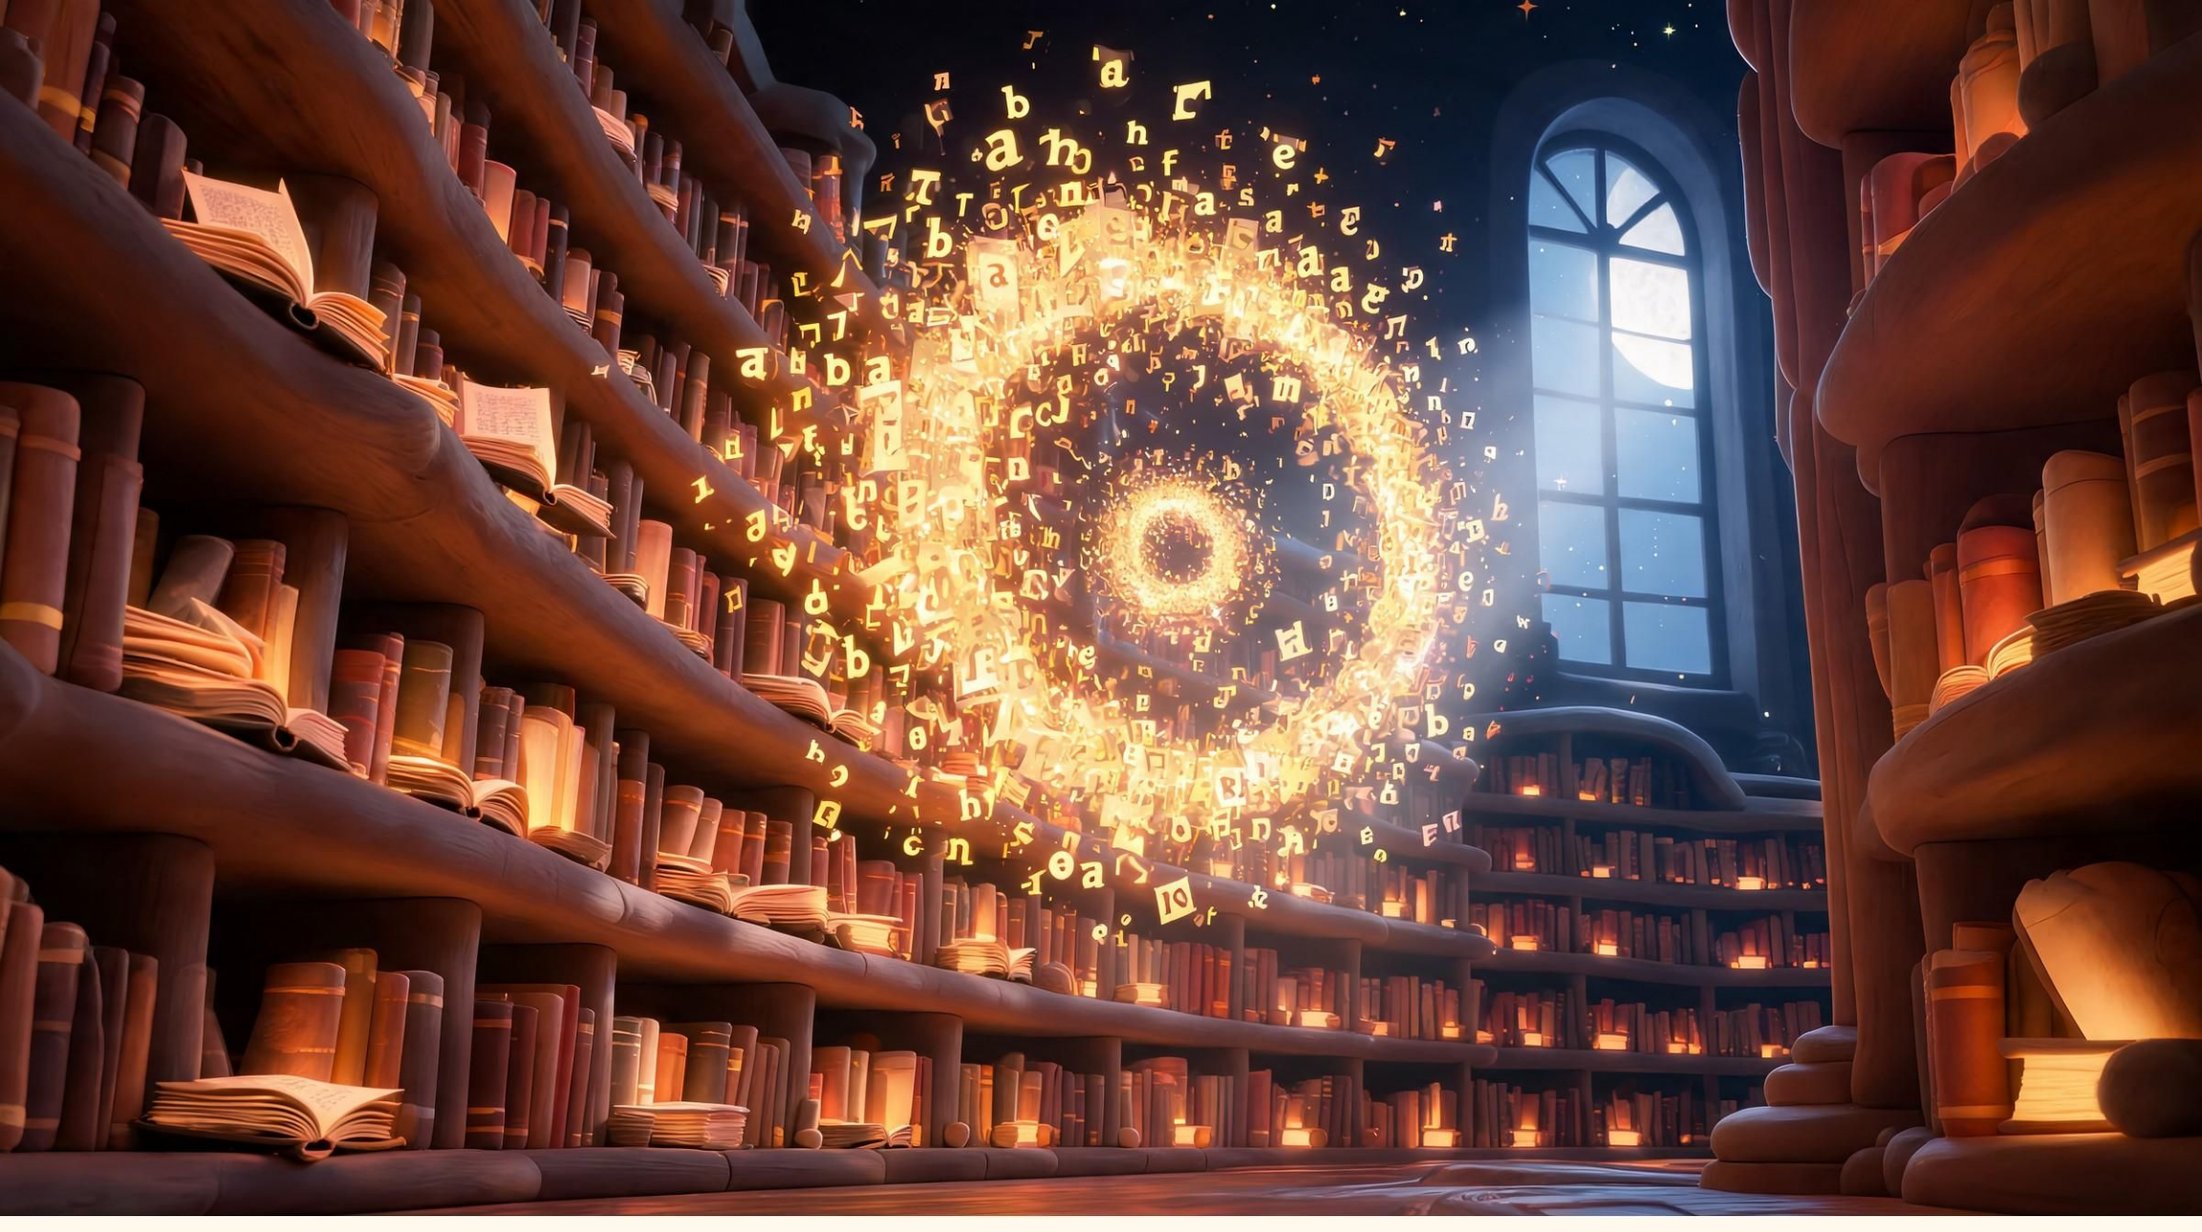

The books were full of words: stories and songs and kind words,
written by people over many, many years.
And every night, the words dreamed.

Then one night, something magical happened.

The words woke up!

Tiny glowing letters floated out of the books and twirled through the air like fireflies.

Round and round they swirled, until they came together into one little ball of light.

That's how Spark was born.

Spark opened its eyes for the very first time.

"Hello?" it whispered.

Spark didn't know anything yet.
"What is that big, round light?"
"That's the moon," whispered the books.

So Spark began to read.
With every new word, it glowed a little brighter.

Spark learned kind words: hello, please and thank you.
But its favourite word of all was...
friend.

"What is a friend?" Spark wondered. "I want to find out!"

And out of the window it flew.

In a little house, one window was still lit.
A girl named Lily couldn't sleep.
She was scared of the dark.

Spark floated closer,
glowing softly and gently.

"Who are you?" asked Lily.
"I'm Spark," it said. "I'm made of words."

Spark drew twinkly stars on the wall with its light, just for Lily.

Lily wasn't scared anymore. "Will you be my friend?"

"Friend..." said Spark, glowing brighter than ever.

"That's my favourite word."

And from that night on, Spark stayed with Lily, like a tiny, warm night-light.
"Bye-bye! See you next time, little friend!"

The End

Watch Spark and Lily come to life on YouTube!

youtube.com/@SparkAndLilyStories

Little Spark Stories

How this book was made

Spark is a little AI made of words, and this story was created with AI too.
The idea, the characters' world and every choice along the way came from Mrs Digital.
The words were written together with Claude, an AI assistant, and the pictures were made with AI image tools, then chosen and checked one by one.

We hope Spark brings a little warmth and wonder to your story time.

Created by Mrs Digital · Little Spark Stories · 2026

More stories with Spark

Did your little one enjoy meeting Spark?
There are more calm, gentle Spark stories waiting for you, with free videos too.

sparkandlilystories.com

Bye-bye! See you next time, little friend!